Dessin Fournir
Lily Garden Chair

"I like this chair for its lightness. It's not your typical clunky outdoor furniture. It's pretty and sculptural and would look just as beautiful without a cushion. It's also very comfortable." The Martin Group, Boston Design Center, (617) 951-2526, martingroupinc.com

JOCELYN CHIAPPONE

Four Leaf Clover Chair
from Great Taste No Space

"How can you not feel lucky sitting on this fun, vintage chair? It's a perfect conversation piece for a sunroom or a guest bedroom. I enjoy finding unexpected vintage pieces and layering them with other design elements." Digs Design Company

SUSAN REDDICK

Baker Tulip Chair

"I have a penchant for antique hall chairs. This version, based on a tulip design, would be fun in the hallway of a summer house, in a bedroom or in a bathroom with a pile of colorful towels on the seat."

Baker Knapp & Tubbs, Boston Design Center, (617) 439-4876, bakerfurniture.com

Floral Inspirations: Fabric

JOCELYN CHIAPPONE
Lotus from Galbraith & Paul

"I chose this Galbraith & Paul fabric in the 'sprout' colorway for a client's dining room draperies. We paired it with neutral grasscloth wallpaper and a ceiling painted with high-gloss aqua. It's elegant and beautiful, and I admire the company's use of old-fashioned hand-blocking techniques."

Paradise from Colefax and Fowler

"This embroidered linen fabric, shown here in blue, is casual but really special.

The embroidery is delicate, so finely done." The Martin Group

SUSAN REDDICK
Wisteria from Chelsea Editions

"This is one of my favorite Chelsea Textiles fabrics and we have used it with great success in both a city and coastal master bedroom. It is an understated yet elegant floral, shown here in a mauve colorway, that makes up beautifully as draperies." Studio 534

Plumeria from Ann Sacks

"I used this Ann Sacks mosaic tile as the inspiration for a master bath renovation. Combined with a smoky gray tile on the wall and a fabulous burnished tub by Waterworks, this mosaic floor tile created a calming retreat." Boston Design Center, (800) 278-8453, annsacks.com

Kravet Gion Rug

"I love the simplicity of this wool and silk Tibetan rug. It's such a statement piece; you could put it in a room with beautiful architectural design and it would look wonderful even without another thing in the space." Boston Design Center, (617) 338-4615, kravet.com

SUSAN REDDICK

New Ravenna Arabella Mosaic Tile

"Update a bathroom with a floor covered in Arabella from New Ravenna's Silk Road collection. The tile, in polished Carrara and Thassos, is so pretty, cool and glamorous, you may never want to leave." Discover Tile, Boston Design Center, (617) 330-7900, discovertile.com

Worlds Away Venus
 Capiz Chandelier

"This chandelier fits right in with my design philosophy of giving a fresh twist to the classics.

It looks like crystal, but it's actually made of shells for a fun new take on the traditional."
